Course Description: Course Description: This course is designed to establish a dynamic synergy between literary consciousness and Christ-like disposition. The synergy stems from the very idea of creation, where God is established as the super embodiment of creativity expressed in the three genres of literature. It also recognizes the potency of literature in analysing the socio-political and economic dynamics of the society, while establishing deep communication with God as well as ensuring interpersonal communication with man. The books of Proverbs, Psalms and the various parables are shining instances of creative word smithing for the delectation of the hearers and for didactic impact and these will be extensively explored. Through such instances drawn from the Holy Book, a formidable synergy will be established with literature. Postgraduate students are to imbibe the spirit behind this synergy in the various assignments, seminars and workshops pertaining to this course with a view to concretising the consciousness of God in all human endeavours.

Course Objectives: At the end of this course, students will be able to:

1. Study the literary/artistic features of the Bible
